Classic skull, 3 part model

KS 3

- First choice for basic anatomical studies
- High-quality original casts of real human skulls
- Hand-made from hard, unbreakable plastic
- Disassembles into at least three parts for detailed studies

Catalogue No
ZSK-300-010Y

Peking man skull model

KS 3 KS 4 16+

- Reconstruction of a Homo erectus female skull, based upon the remains of several individuals found in a Chinese cave in the 1930s, estimated to be between 250,000 and 500,000 years old

Catalogue No
ZJY-586-S

Classic unisex torso, 14 part model

KS 4

- This popular school torso is supplied with the following removable parts: three part head; two lungs; two part heart; stomach; liver with gall bladder; two part intestinal tract; front half of kidney; front half of urinary bladder
- Supplied with torso guide ZSK-450-010L
- Dimensions, mm: 870 x 380 x 250

Catalogue No
ZSK-400-010A

Torso guide

KS 4

- Brilliant coloured pictures
- Even the smallest structures are explained
- Valuable teaching tips to create more interesting lessons
- Also supplied on a CD-ROM in PDF format to assist in creating tests or preparing lessons
- Supplied in a coloured filing system

Catalogue No
ZSK-450-010L

Torso model, 'Billy'

KS 2 KS 3 KS 4 16+

- Designed for health, physiology, first aid and general science classes
- Precise anatomical scale model with 100+ realistically depicted body structures
- Constructed from high impact plastic reinforced with urethane foam
- Outer layer shows superficial muscular and skeletal features
- Torso opens to expose respiratory, circulatory, digestive, urinary and nervous systems
- Removable lungs, heart and digestive organs
- Supplied with comprehensive study guide

Catalogue No
ZKJ-130-010J

Torso model, 11 part

KS 2 KS 3 KS 4 16+

- Designed for use as a classroom aid for the study of human anatomy
- Half-scale 11 piece model with realistically coloured and detailed parts
- Constructed from tough plastic
- Supplied with comprehensive key to numbered parts
- Dimensions (h), mm: 500

Catalogue No
ZKJ-120-T

www.griffineducation.co.uk